

SITE NUMBER: WA-II-952

ADDRESS: 41 St. Paul Street, Boonsboro, MD (no photo)

OWNER/LOT NUMBER/ACCESS: private

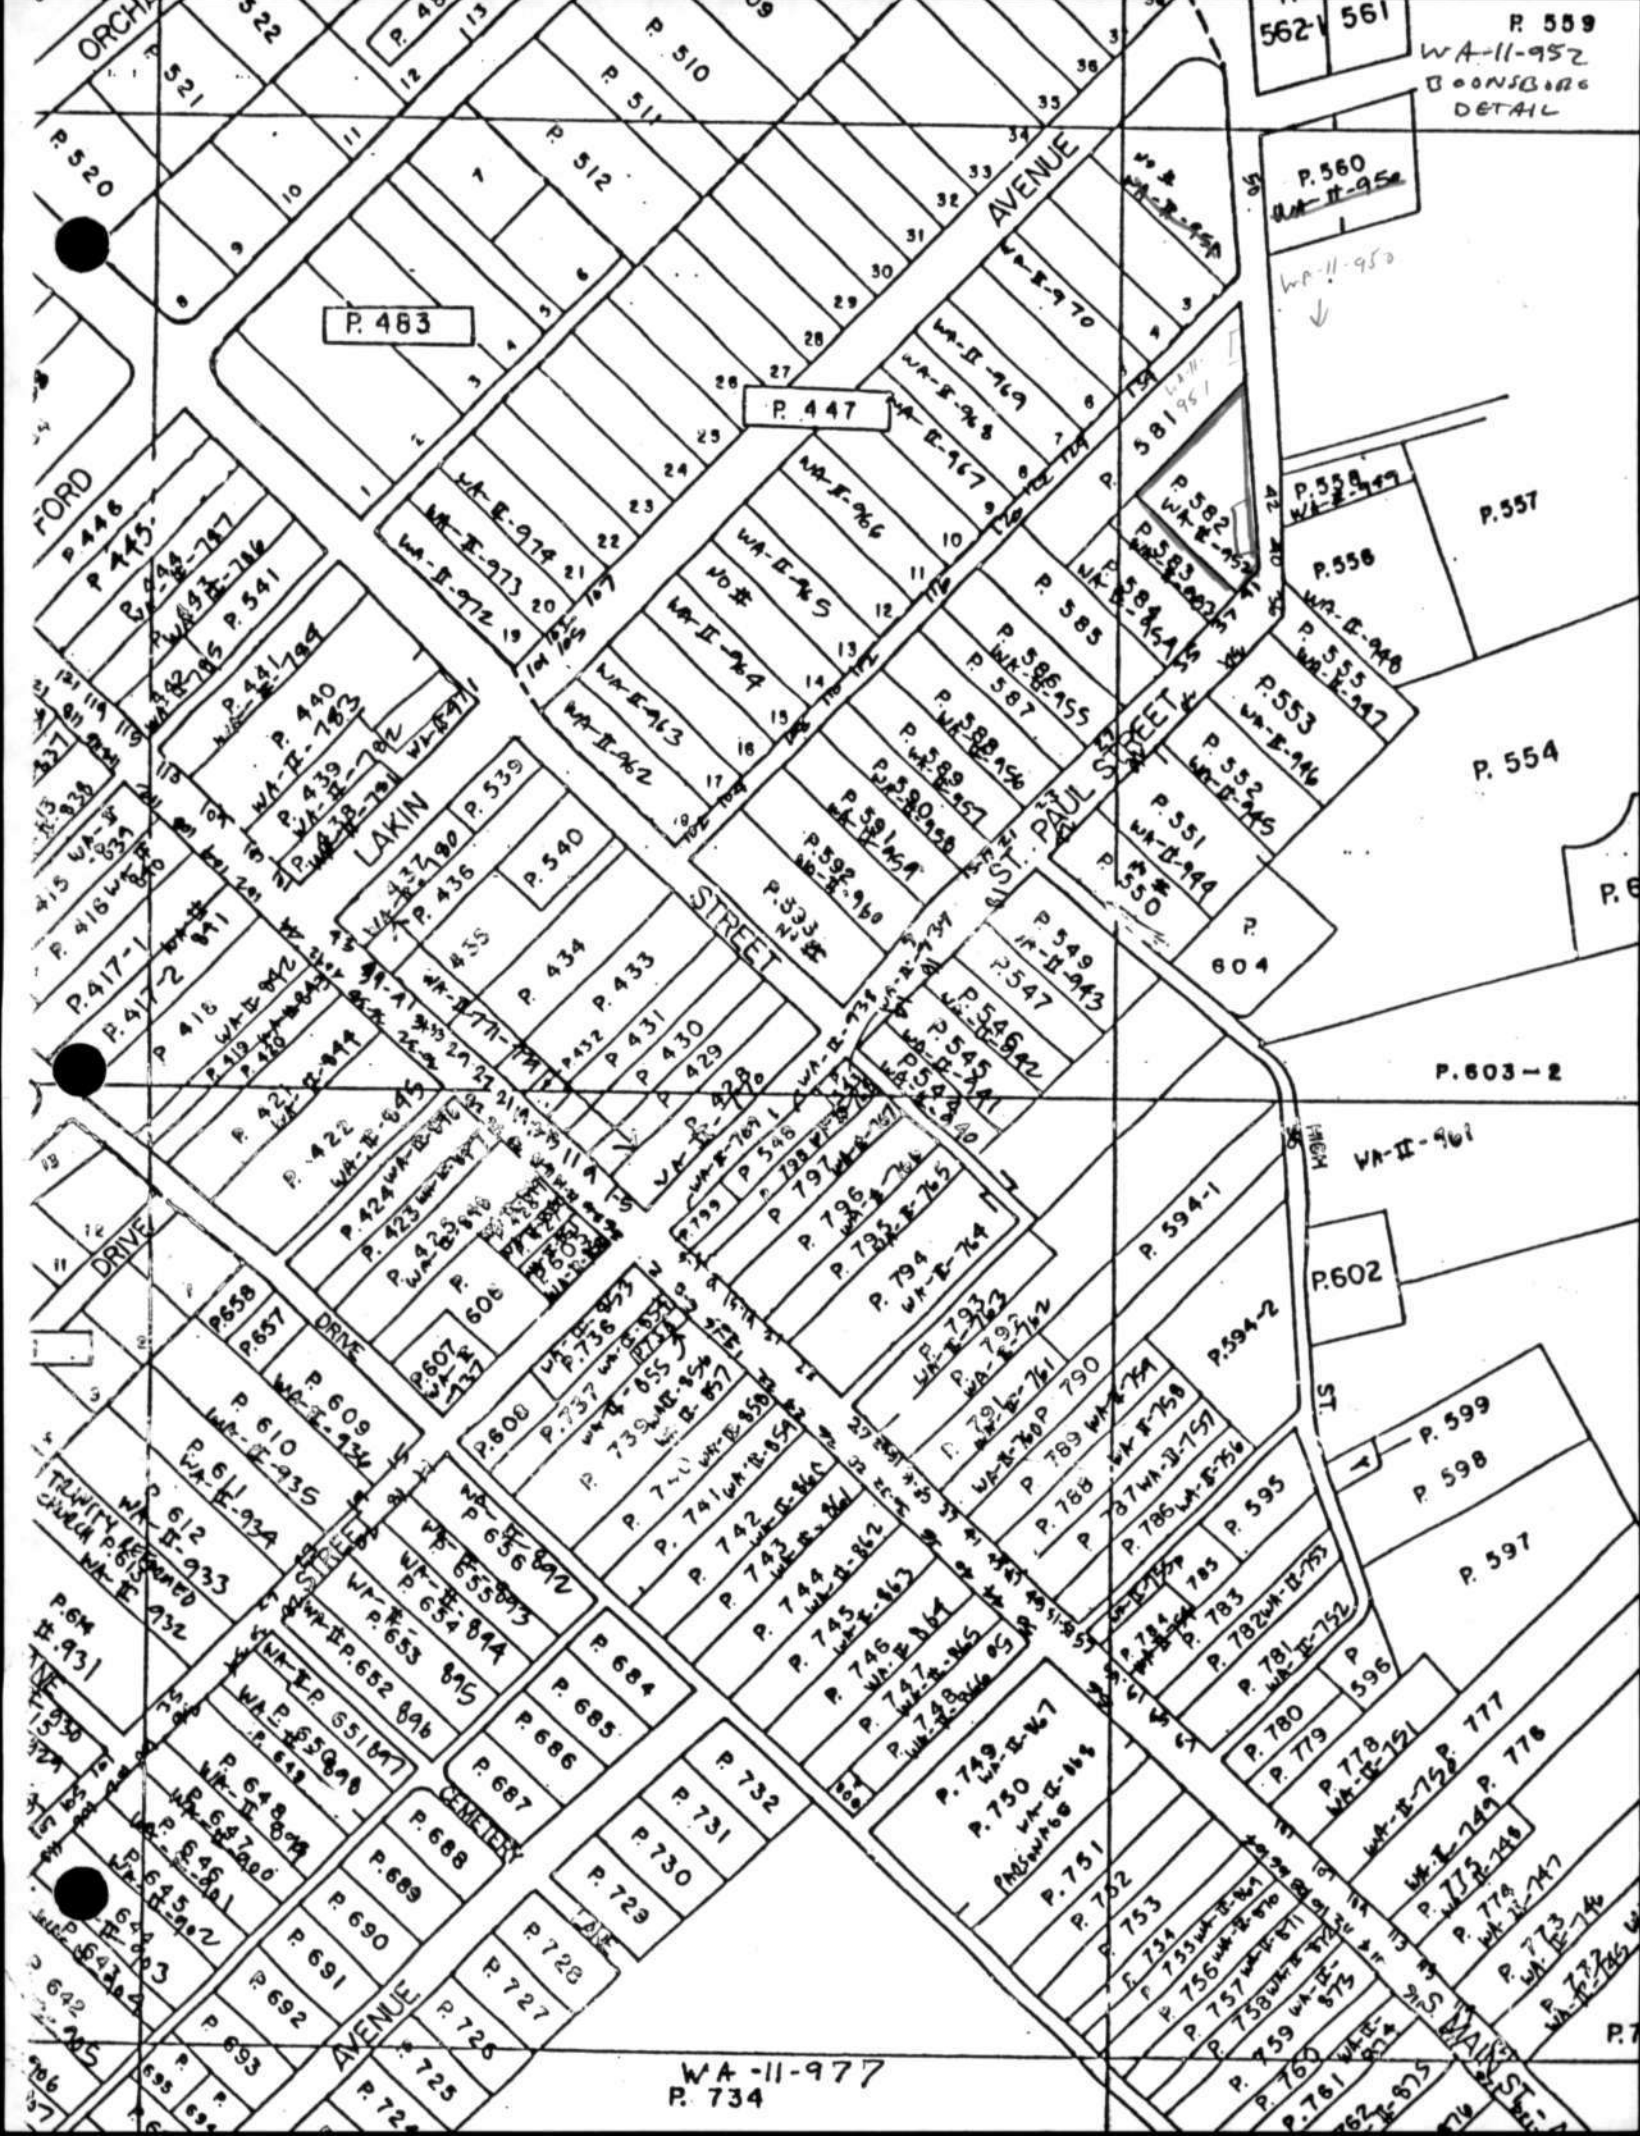

BUILDING DATE: mid 19th century, pre-1877

41 St. Paul Street is a southeast-facing, horizontally massed, one-and-a-half-story, log encased in brick, freestanding, residential structure. The building has been totally remodeled and looks like a new building. All the architectural elements have been replaced.

A building of the exact configuration and location is indicated on the 1877 map of the town. The 1897-1940 Sanborn maps number the structure 153 St. Paul. According to Doug Bast, this is a log structure.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the probable Development Period of Agricultural-Industrial Transition, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
